Filecount per commit

Shows how many commits had changed one file, how many had changed two files, and so on. The chart is limited to 30 lines for improved readability. The data preview also includes overall statistics including the number of commits that are filtered out in the chart.

Pairwise Changed Files

This section analyzes files that were changed together within the same commit and provides several metrics to quantify the strength of the co-change relationship:

- Commit Count: The number of commits in which two files were changed together.
- Commit Lift: A ratio that indicates whether the co-change pattern is stronger than random chance, given how often each file changes.
- Jaccard Similarity: The ratio of commits involving either file that also involved both files.

The following tables show the top pairwise changed files based on these metrics. The following charts show how these metrics are distributed across pairs of files that were changed together.

Co-Changed Files by their commit count

Files changed together by commit min confidence

The commit min confidence is the commit count where both files were changed divided by the commit count of the file with the least commits. This metric is useful to identify pairs of files that are frequently changed together and is not biased by single files that are changed very often.

Find pairwise changed files with many highly ranked metrics

Find those pairwise changed files that have a high rank in many metrics by calculating a combined (weighted) score based on the ranks of each metric. This is useful to identify pairs of files that score high in most metrics, which indicates a strong co-change relationship.

Pairwise changed files with pareto-optimal metrics

A pair (count, confidence, jaccard, lift) is Pareto-optimal if there is no other pair that is better or equal in all metrics and strictly better in at least one. In other words, it is not "dominated" by any other pair.

The frontier = the “best tradeoffs.”
